WHYACEEXISTS

For 400 years the Black church has been the place our people went when the world outside offered nothing. Not just for worship. For organizing. For survival. For the belief that something better was not only possible but promised.

ACE is building the thing the church has been preparing people for. Not a metaphor. A city. Real land, real schools, real hospitals, real courts, a real economy governed by the people who live inside it. Two of the most spiritually resilient peoples in human history, building together on sovereign ground.

We are not asking you to leave your ministry. We are asking you to extend it toward the most concrete expression of the promised land this generation has ever had the opportunity to build.

THEPROMISEDLANDISNOTAMETAPHOR

Two of the most spiritually resilient peoples in human history Black Americans and Native Americans are building a real community on sovereign land, governed by their own laws, sustained by their own economy, grounded in their own culture and faith.

The Alliance for Collective Empowerment (ACE) is a 25-year initiative to establish self-governing, self-sustaining cities for Black and Native American communities on tribal land across the United States. Real land. Real governance. Real schools where our children learn who they are before the world tells them who to be. Real hospitals where no Black mother fears the delivery room. Real courts that deliver justice instead of processing our people into cages.

This is not a program you can apply for. It is not a government initiative you can petition. It is a civilization our communities are building together, for ourselves, on our own terms, with our own resources.

Your congregation is ready for this. They have been hearing about the promised land their whole lives. ACE is asking you to show them that it is not a distant spiritual destination, it is a city being built, and there is a place in it for every family willing to help build it.

The historically Black church has been the spine of Black community life in America for 400 years. Through slavery, through Reconstruction, through Jim Crow, through the Civil Rights Movement. Every time our people needed to organize around something larger than themselves, they gathered in a church. ACE is the next thing worth gathering around. And we are asking for your leadership.

THEASK

We are asking you to become an ACE Community Ministry Partner. Here is what that means:

- Host one ACE town hall for your congregation let your members hear the vision directly from ACE leadership and ask their questions.

- Share ACE's Community Investment Bond program with your congregation investment in ACE starts at $500, making co-ownership of this vision accessible to every working family in your community.
- Serve as a trusted community validator, your endorsement carries the weight of your relationship with your congregation. If you believe this is real and worth building, say so.
- Join the ACE Community Advisory Council, a formal advisory body giving ministry leaders a voice in ACE's direction and a platform that extends beyond your congregation to the national ACE community.

We are not asking you to leave your ministry. We are asking you to extend it.

Every generation has its moment. This is ours. Will you open the door?
